Cremations in Comparison to Deaths

All change please!

The countdown is on to 'Phoneday' – well it's less than a year away! On Sunday 16th April 1995, all major STD or area codes in Britain will change and all codes beginning with 0 will change to 01.

OFTEL, the Government's telecommunications advisory body, decided this was the best way to increase the number of dialling codes available throughout Britain. So, as from next April you will need to insert '1' after the '0' at the start of all UK area codes. For example, inner London will change from 071 to 0171, and Maidstone changes from 0622 to 01622.

A change is also being made to the International dialling code. Instead of 010, the code will change to 00, to bring us into line with the rest of Europe.

Confused? Ring BT on 0800 010101 (01? – where have I seen that before?) for fuller information.
